This map illustrates the geographic distribution of data points, represented by blue circles, across the North Atlantic region. The circles are most densely clustered in the western United States, specifically in California, where multiple overlapping circles indicate a high concentration of data. Other notable clusters are found in the Pacific Northwest and the Great Lakes region of the United States. In Europe, a significant cluster of circles is located in the United Kingdom. A single circle is also present in northern Europe, near Sweden. The map includes labels for major countries, bodies of water, and geographical features.

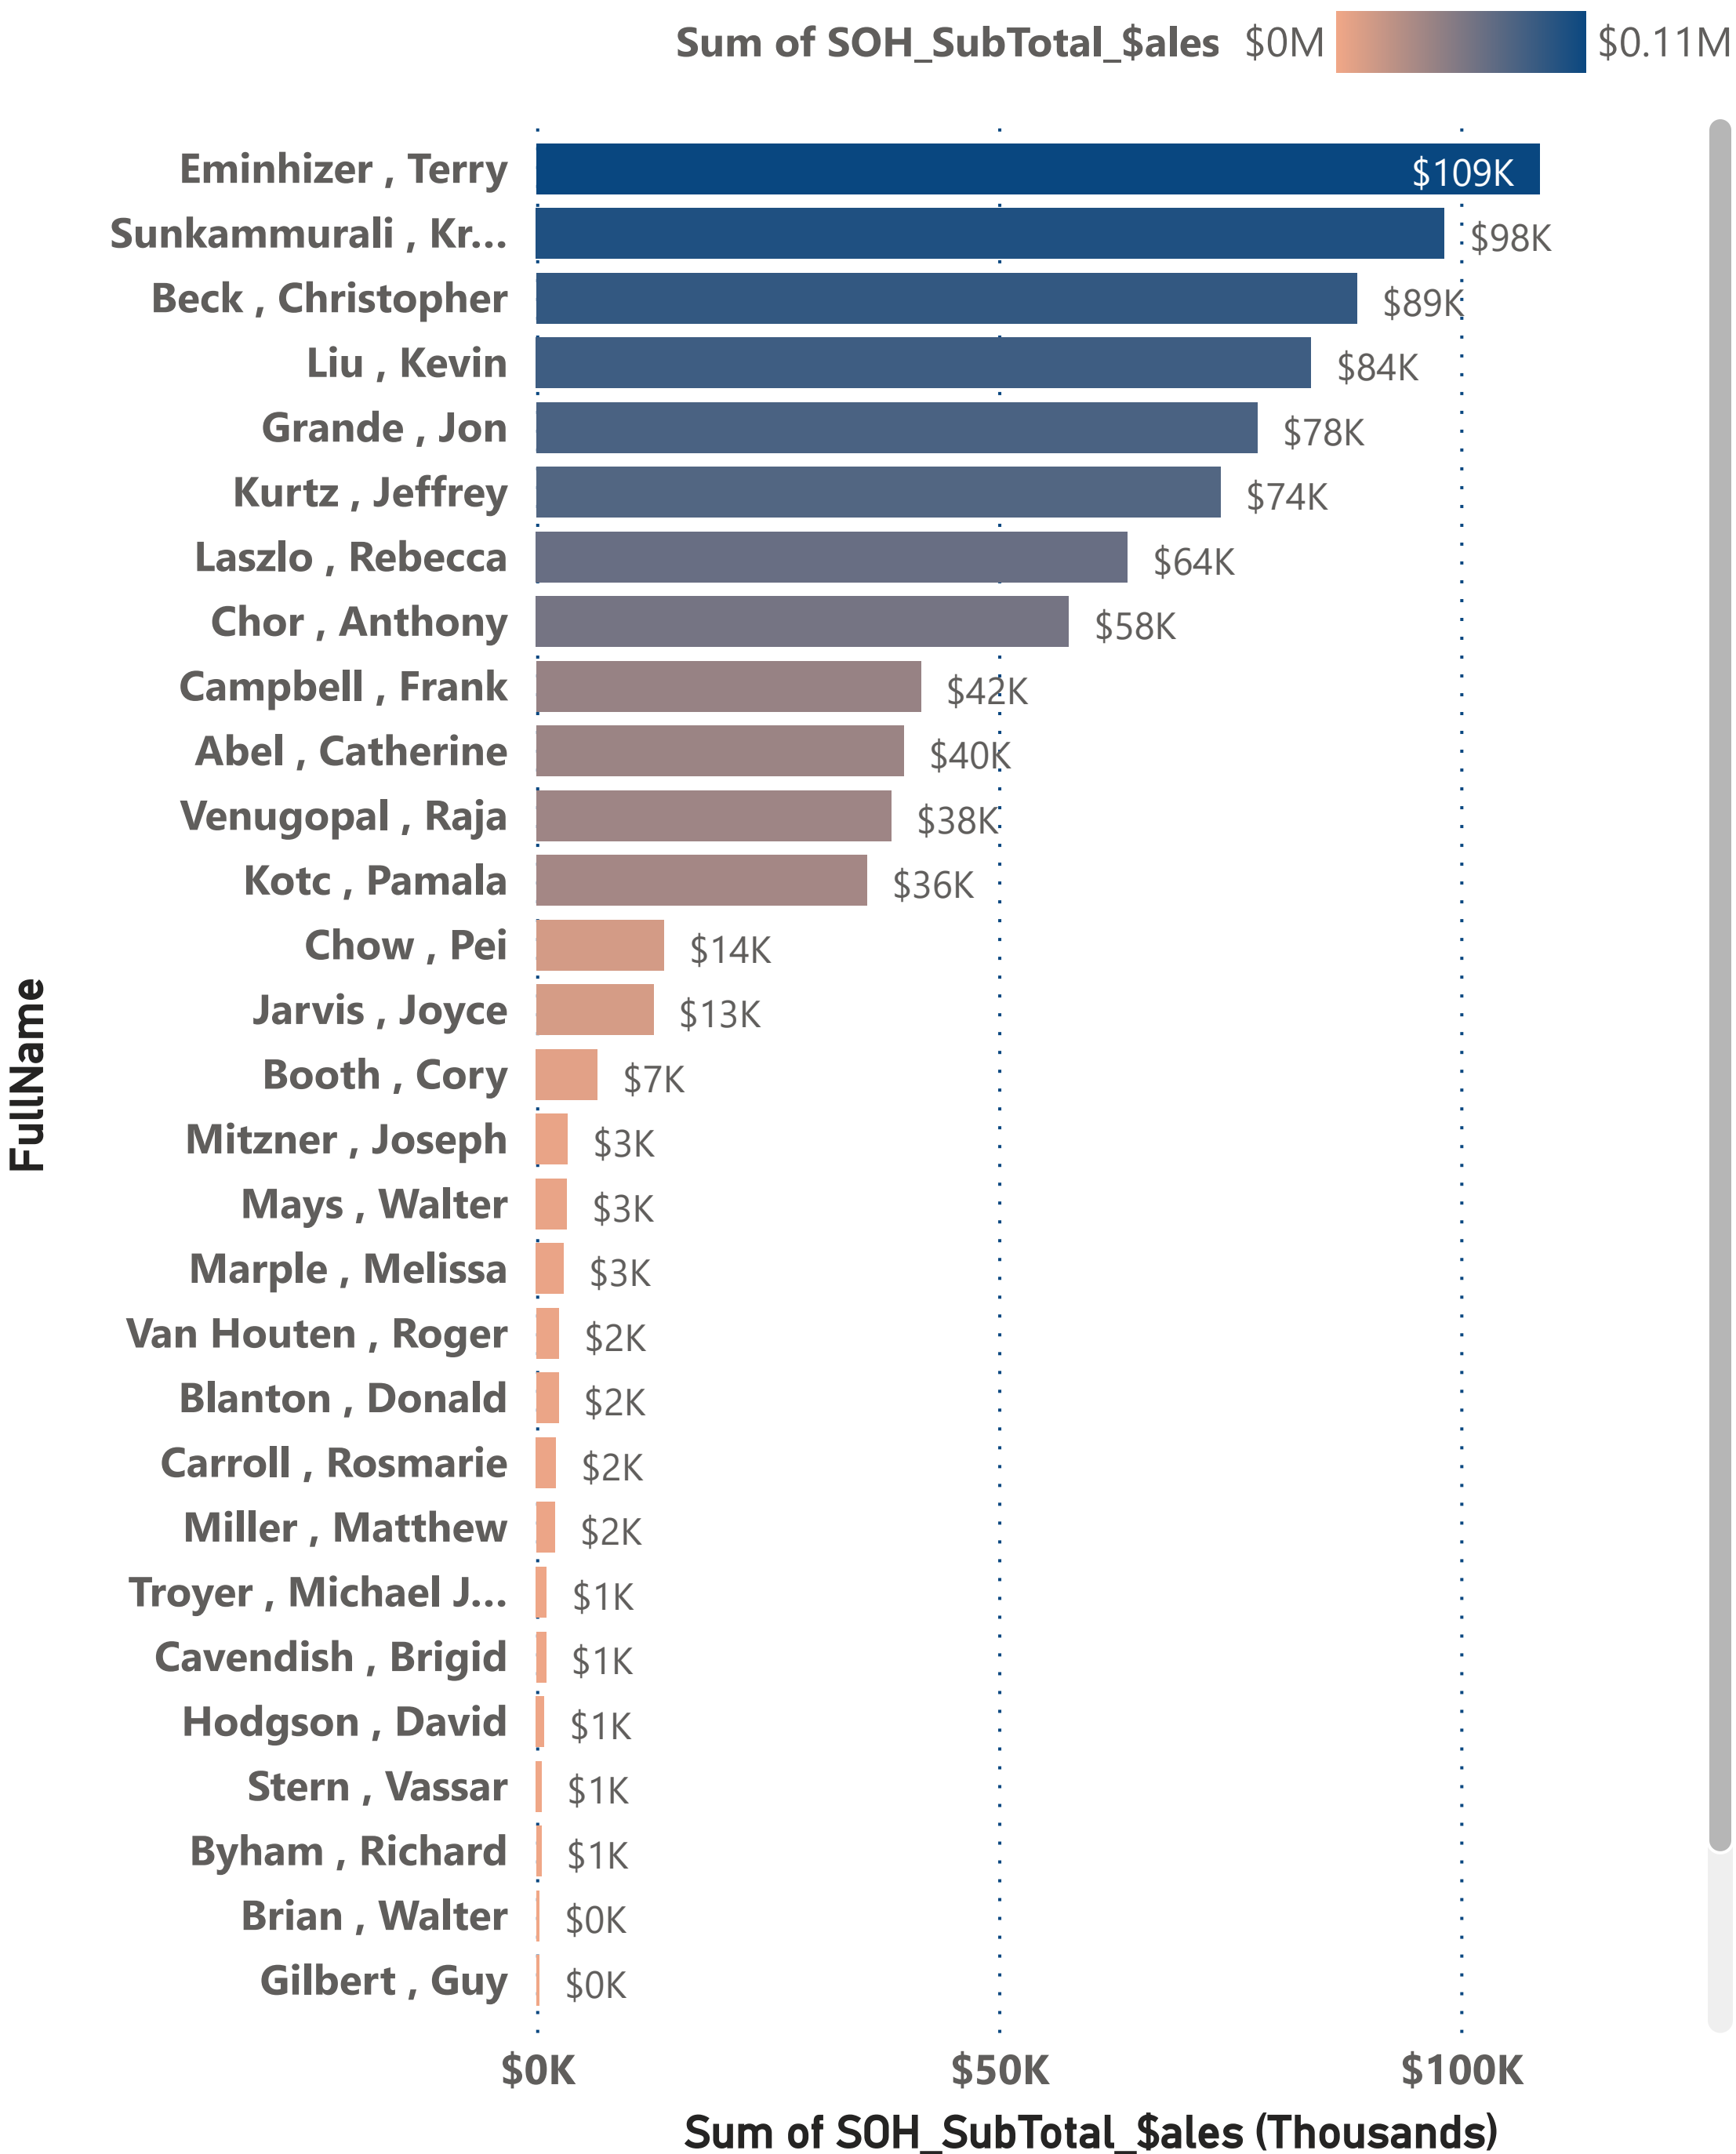

| Region | Country/Feature | Approximate Location of Data Points (Circles) |
|-----------------|-----------------|--|
| North America | United States | California (multiple overlapping circles), Pacific Northwest, Great Lakes, Northeast |
| | Canada | None |
| | Greenland | None |
| | Iceland | None |
| Europe | United Kingdom | Multiple overlapping circles in the south |
